My IT Guy Acquires Schiller Networks

Acquisition Increases My IT Guy's Presence as Premier I.T. Services Provider

KITCHENER, ON – Nov. 1, 2012 My IT Guy Corp, a leading provider of I.T. services in Waterloo Region, announced today that it has acquired Schiller Networks, a Kitchener-based I.T. consulting firm specialized in delivering I.T. services to SMBs throughout Ontario, to enhance its availability, timeliness and knowledge base.

The purchase of Schiller Networks, based in Kitchener, Ontario, further increases My IT Guy's share in the I.T. services market in the greater Kitchener-Waterloo area. "This will mean better support for existing clients of both companies, as well as provide the flexibility we need to continue our growth," said Adam Smith, Owner & CEO of My IT Guy Corp.

"We have been looking for a permanent solution to improve our service by finding the right I.T. person that suits our style of customer service. It has been very difficult but I can confidently say that now, after exploring many options, I found a solution I truly believe will benefit all of us," commented Tom Schiller, Owner of Schiller Networks. "We are all very excited to have Adam and his team join with ours to be able to continue providing the best customer service [our clients] deserve."

Schiller Networks is now fully integrated with the operations of My IT Guy Corp. Schiller Networks staff have also joined My IT Guy, meaning Schiller Networks' customers will be able to continue working with familiar technicians, in addition to current My IT Guy staff and technicians. The increased availability should provide all clients with improved response time for support requests, reduced downtime, and increased knowledge and resources.
